Here's How MedScribe Helped Reconstructive Orthopedics

“ The importance of turnaround time, quality, and price were the first keys. MedScribe performed on all three as they had promised. What became more important is their knowledge and helpfulness interfacing with my new EHR. They put forth extensive effort to make this happen and without that, my EHR could not perform. They conducted the interface quickly and with expertise. That is when I knew I had a partner, not just a vendor.”

— Jim Needham, Chief Operating Officer of Reconstructive Orthopedics

MedScribe's Back-End Speech Recognition Saves Money and Time

Loss of productivity is prevalent when physicians use speech recognition software and self-edit their reports. And time equals dollars. Dollars you can't afford to lose.

Our unique approach recaptures lost physician productivity, reduces per line costs, and improves report quality.

Back-end speech recognition technology understands the way clinicians speak, regardless of dialect, grammar, poor pronunciation or speed. MedScribe edits reports behind-the-scenes, lifting physician productivity with every word.
